

General Manager

Headquartered near Munich, Germany, noax Technologies AG ranks among Europe's leading manufacturers of rugged and reliable industrial touchscreen computers for harsh manufacturing environments. noax Technologies Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary of noax Technologies AG, is located in Charlotte, NC and is responsible for all sales, service, and support activities for the North American market. In order to continue our consistent rate of growth, noax Technologies Corporation is currently seeking a qualified candidate for the role of Part-time Service Technician.

The primary role of the part-time Service Technician will be to assist the Senior Service Technician in the receiving, diagnosing, and repairing of industrial touchscreen computers while delivering exceptional customer service.

Job Responsibilities

- Professional leadership and management of the American Organization
- Responsibility for Sales and P&L
- Close cooperation with the German Headquarter
- Develop and implement strategic plans and actions to increase sales and expand market share
- Lead by example, develop and coach team members
- Create a positive, dynamic, and fun work environment

Required skills

- Master's Degree in Business Administration or similar experience
- 3+ years' experience in team management
- Experienced in B2B sales of IT or industrial goods
- Entrepreneurial mindset and hands-on mentality
- Strong team player with excellent leadership skills
- Familiar with American and German working culture
- Fluent in English and German

In our family business, we offer you a responsible position with comprehensive design options and short communication channels. You will be based at our American headquarters in Charlotte, NC, and report directly to the CEO.

Think you can accept this challenge and make it a success? ...

Please send your application including your resume, cover letter, and salary expectations to bewerbung@noax.com.

We look forward to getting your application!